BAHYARTHA SIDDHI KARIKA

N. A. SASTRI

BAHYARTHA SIDDHI KARIKA

Introductory

Genesis of the Treatise.

We have in the collection of Tibetan Tripitaka Tangyur five Bhadanta Subhagupta in the following attributed to (1) Sarvajnasiddhikarika, (2) Bahyarthasiddhi Karika (3) Srutipariksa, (4) Anyapoha-vicara, (5) Iswarabhangakarika. Of these the second, viz. Bahyarthasiddhi, Tib. phyi.rol.gyi.don.grub, pa is the most valuable and interesting. It consists of about 190 verses (anustup) counted for convenience into 188 verses. The purpose of the treatise, as its title implies, to refute the Yogacara idealistic philosophy and to prove the reality of the external universe from the standpoint of the Sarvastivadi-Vaibhasikas. Vasubandhu, for example, in his Vimsatika elaborated a good deal to demonstrate the impossibility of atomic theory of the Vaisesikas. Dignaga again in his Alambanapariksa confirmed Vasubhandhu's opinion on the basis of his logical and epistemological foundations. Next the upholder of the Idealistic School of Buddhism was Dharmakirti who embarked on the task of establishing his philosophy of absolute Idealism by enumerating several logical arguments. Of those, the argument of Sahopalanibha-niyama, concomittance of co-cognition is most powerful and proverbial with all the posterior writers of Indian philosophy. Now the uphill task of reviewing all the arguments set up by the above masters of Idealism rests with Bhadanta Subhagupta, a renowned master of the Vaibhasika school of Buddhism. Subhagupta, in the present treatise takes up to examine in detail all the points raised in favour of Idealism and succeeds in presenting his case, the case of the Vaibhasika masters (on the subject) so brilliantly and vehemently that still later some masters, like Santaraksita and Kamalasila could not remain without making another attempt to vindicate their own positions in opposition to Subhagupta's premise. In course of their examination into Externalism (Bahirarthapariksa) they quote Subhagupta's passages verbatim and refute his arguments one by one. Thus we have about 11 verses of Subhagupta cited all of which are traced in the present treatise (see verses Nos. 29, 35, 44, 66, 68, 71, 81, 87, 89, 95, 101). Kamalasila cites also some prose passages (v. Panjika, p. 574, 20) from Subhagupta giving rise to a surmise that Subhagupta might have also written some commentary on the treatise which is not translated into Tibetan.

This appraisal of the treatise may give a fair idea of when the author Subhagupta must have flourished. His time must be fixed between Dharmakirti (650 A. D.) and Santaraksita-Kamalasila (700-50 A. D.). He must be also anterior to Akalanka, a Jain author (c.700A. D.) since the latter quotes the former in his Nyayaviniscaya the ver: saha-sabdasca loke'smin, etc. (Bahyartha, ver. 71). We may therefore place him during 650-700 A. D. (Cf. T. Sangraha, Intro. XXXIV).

REVIEW OF TOPICS

Now let us make a brief survey of the whole contents of the treatise. One of the most powerful arguments in favour of Idealism is the example of dream experiences. Subhagupta refutes it by pointing our differences between the wake experiences which are never contradicted and the dreams which are always contradicted. To the contention of the Yogacara that all our knowledge and experience are illusive, the author replies that some knowledge may err on account of some defect in our cognitive apparatus but to say that it errs even in the absence of such defects creates an absolute darkness in the universe (v. ver. 31 with note).

Dignaga holds that because each atom is not separately cognized there could be no atoms at all; the author points out in reply that the reason, i.e. non-cognition of atoms in isolation (ekaika-aparicchede) is not conclusive; mind and mental phenomena, though not separately experienced, exist (v. ver. 33, 34). maintains further that atoms cannot appear in life in isolation; when they appear in association with others they loose their atomic characteristics; how, then, could each of the atoms be reflected in our conciousness?—he asks (ver. 43). On an external material object which is constituted of several atoms, we have an idea of 'one' but this idea of oneness is illusive and is produced as a result of cognition of the uninterrupted and homogeneous atoms (ver. 35) and that is our mental construction (36). atoms being coagulated into an integrated form discharge a uniform action and therefore they cannot be designated as nonsubstances (40).

Vasubandhu's criticism of atomic theory on the basis of spacial distinction (digbhagabheda) which contradicts the theory itself is not at all reasonable; for we hold that there is no space apart from the atoms themselves. When we talk of space we mean the atoms themselves spread in certain fashion (45-46). The conception of one whole (avayavin) is also illogical. If you consider it possible as a result of the atoms being closely knit together in a large number, you may better also conceive one time-unit on the moments that are preceeding and succeeding in an uninterrupted succession (50). Atoms have a relationship amongst themselves due to which no intruder could enter in the midst of atoms; by virtue of the same relationship the covering of atoms by other atoms has been upheld therefore there is not any reason to presume the atoms have parts (52). The atoms, though mutually unrelated and partless become collocated and accomplish the gross things like the globe of earth, etc. on account of some excellence of mutual efficiency (anugrahavisesa) (56-57). Certain number of atoms alone enter into combination by virtue of that substance-efficiency (dravyasakti) but there are many others which could not do so account of their meagre power (58-59). The atoms could counted by some spritually advanced saints alone and therefore conceive them to be existing even though we do not cognize them. (65).

Next the author taking up to examine the maxim of Sahopalambhaniyama remarks that the knowledge is only cognizer and that too is only in the presence of some visible object and therefore they are cognized simultaneously but this fact does not testify their identity (67). Then the said hetu, reason has been pointed out to be defective in several respects; sometimes it is indefinite, sometimes contradictory and sometimes unproved and so on. The term saha 'together' always implies a companion and if there is really Saha-vedana, 'together-cognition', the reason will obviously prove the contrary to what is cherished. The object felt by some other person in his own mind cannot be denied by us because it is far removed from our cognizance. The meaning of Sahavedana, according to the author is that when the knowledge-factors, sense-organ, etc. being present previously produce the sensuous consciousness in the next moment, then it may be termed Saha-vedana (82). Speaking truly, the knowledge is not at all cognized, but it is said to be cognized figuritively since it cognizes its object by the law of nature. But the object is indeed cognized since it gives rise to its knowledge (85). To the question: How a knowledge cognizes, the author replies: the knowledge functions as if it measures the external thing (90-92).

We have to take note here that the author does not plead, as the Sautrantika does, that the knowledge cognizes through the process of asuming the image of its object. Therefore he says: The image which you presume as existent in the object-knowledge truly exists in the external things alone and not in the knowledge (96). This image-theory is not favoured by the advocates of Cittamatrata, Idea-alone in the ultimate plane of existence. The point becomes evident from the following statement of the author: "You plead that the knowledge which, in fact, is imageless experiences its unreal images. I, likewise, advocate that the imageless knowledge experiences real things (102). He makes his position further clear by saying that the consciousness which is imageless and formless comprehends (paricchid) through the agency of material sense-organs like the eye, etc. (105). The author turns the image theory as an unfavourable proposition to the opponent thus:

When a consciousness—form is accepted to be shaped by the form of an object, how does it mean that consciousness comprehends it? (90). When we maintain that consciousness flashes up in the presence of its object, your query as to how it does so is an irrelevant question (91). The consciousness is not creator of its object; nevertheless people on its simple awareness of its content, attribute to it a creative function (92). The author's realistic outlook is quite obvious in his solemn declaration that the process of cognizing the external things is the same with as with the worldlings, with this much difference that the former is characterized by his detached and comprehensive vision (Sarvakara dhiya) whereas the latter by covetous observation of things (94). Immediately after this assertion however, the author concedes a special privilege to Buddha whose power of knowledge cannot be interrogated whether it comprehends simultaneously or in succession and whether it assumes the image of the object or does not (95). This opinion may not be shared by the Sautrantika who is not in favour of allowing any exception to the general law of knowledge operating always in a gradual process. Note Vasubandhu's clear-cut exposition of this law: Santanena samarthatvat yatha' gnih sarva-bhug math/Tatha sarvavid estavyo na sakrt sarva-vedanat/Kosakarika, IX, 1.

The Kramavedana is also the opinion of Harivarman.—Satyasiddhi, Chaps 75, 76, etc. Cp. Pancavastuka-Vibhasa, p. 27 (Visva-Bharati Annals, X).

It is interesting to note that the well known lamp example cited in favour of Sva-samvedana theory has been turned by the author to his advantage thus: As you hold that the lamp illumines itself as well as others, just so I hold that a knowledge illumines the selves of two or more alambanas of the same kind (106). Therefore according to Subhagupta, the visual consciousness, e. g. can comprehend simultaneously several visible things falling within its range; thus our cognition of several colours in a carpet (citrastarana) is quite reasonable.

The Yogacara maintains that knowledge cognizes its own aspect as its objects and hence what is cognizable (grahya) is only a part of knowledge. On this point the author remarks that the Tathagata's sayings like everything is impermanent, etc. do not at all disclose that things meant there are the of consciousness itself (104). Some doctors maintain knowledge of previous moment serves as the object-cause of the next following knowledge; this view is not acceptable to the author; for, no knowledge necessarily follows immediately after another knowledge (118-119). Some other doctors consider that some force (sakti) productive of knowledge is regarded as the object-cause; this too is not appropriate for the reason that not any Sakti is experienced in our sensuous consciousness (120-21). It has been stated finally on the authority of the world and scripture that the external things alone are reasonable to be upheld as the object-cause of our cognitive experiences (123-24). The author further states that the external things are established not merely on account of their simple efficiency in their presence but also on account of such efficiency being experienced even in the case of their mistaken knowledge (viparyaya-jnana) (129-31); that is to say, when we mistake a snake for rope tread upon it we are at once startled by its reaction.

According to this author the knowledge of the discerner of other's thought is not untrue but it is quite natural. The others mind could be comprehended just as any other external things are comprehended. The grasping of an object by our mind is not an act of running towards its objects, but simply an act of measuring (pariccheda). The Buddha is omniscient because he comprehends the entire universe through the agency of his cognizing knowledge (147-48). In the absence of external things none can become omniscient (150). The author has not accepted what Dignaga states in regard to an indescribable form of the object being cognized in the first moment (149-49). Nor does he subscribe his opinion to Dignaga's theory of construction-free mind in the first moment. (115). Dignaga's theory of Svasamvedana, introspection is also not favoured by this author, who constantly maintains that knowledge is always a cognizing agent and never becomes cognized. The theory of intro-cognition is generally believed to have been propounded by the Sautrantikas on the strength of memory of the knowledge in a later period (v. Madh. Avatara VI, ad. 72 Tib. p. 167, my Skt. text p. 60) and to have been followed by Dignaga and his followers (v. Pramanas. I, II). Subhagupta though not in favour of Svasamvedana explains the memory as merely a mind directed towards the past thing; therefore it is not a cognition (graha) since it does not flash up from its cause (145-48). The Vaibhasika is not only the school that refuses to certify Svasamvedana, the Madhyamika too does the same. The memory however is possible, says the Madhyamika, since the consciousness as a cognizer is related to the past thing (Bodhicar. panjika. p. 401, 16).

The author further points out some more flaws system of the Yogacaras. When we assume some entity existing externally then alone the contemplation upon it becomes possible; but no such contemplation is possible in the case of Idealism (159,. The Buddahood which is according to you, completely an inactive state can be secured without making any efforts (161). The person who conceives the charity, etc. as mere thoughts is not able to release any person from poverty even by repeated practice of the charity-mind (168). These are some of the objections that are levelled against Idealism; and therefore the scriptural passages which speak of cittamatrata must not be interpreted quite literally. Their interpretations, according to Subhagupta are as follows: The Buddha has declared (cittamatrata) with reference to the imaginary aspects of the external things but that does not at all imply that the external things are absolutely non-existent (179). Likewise the doctrine of no-soul has been preached with reference to the imaginary aspect of things in order to remove all the passions in the mind of worldlings addicted to sexual pleasures (180). It has also been stated in some place that the external things do not exist in such forms as the ordinary worldings entertain in their mind (181).

In fine the author sums up his constructive conclusion of his system as follows: There is something inferred (kalpita), something fancied (vikalpita) and Dharmata. The inferred (kalpita) is nothing but bhava, some basic entity, atoms; the fancied is diversity of the former (like the earth, etc.) and Dharmata finally is the self-substance (Svalaksana). Of these three the author probably views the first and the last as real and the second, i.e. Vikalpita as unreal. This explanation may quite accord with the opinions of the Vaibhasikas.

Text and Translation

The Tibetan text that is presented in the following pages is based on Bstan hgyur collection of the Tibetan Tripitaka preserved in our Visva-Bharati Library (Narthang edition) and then it was collated with the same in Peking Edn. recently printed in Japan and preserved in the Library of the Sahitya Akademy, New Delhi. Different readings are all noted in the foot-notes to the Tibetan text.

The Tibetan text has been preceded by its English translations with copious annotative foot-notes supplying all the available references and informations on the topics discussed in the text. A tentative rendering into Sanskrit of each verse of the treatise has also been provided in the foot-notes with a view to making the trend of discussion more understandable to the readers who may be familiar with Indian philosophical texts and their styles. Indian (Sastraic) texts are generally not very easy to interpret without having recourse to some commentary. The present text being not provided with any commentary, the task of interpreting it properly has become much tough. I have, however, endeavoured to understand the text with the sole aid of my limited experiences and studies in Buddhism and its philosophy. My Tibetan-Sanskrit glossary contains only those words that are found in the original Sanskrit verses arranged in a separate My thanks are due to Geshe Byam pa thsul khrim, a Tibetan refugee Lama working in the Visvabharati for supplying me with a transcript of the Tibetan text included in this publication.

BAHYARTHA—SIDDHI

Establishment of Objective Reality

- 1. One who fulfilled in every aspect all duties beneficial to his own person (Svartha) as well as duties beneficial to other living beings; to Him I salute in order to achieve the success (artha-siddhi) and demonstrate the truth of the objective universe.
- 2. (The Idealist says:) The<sup>3</sup> external thing that serves as the object of consciousness in the person of perfect eyesight does not exist (as real); (Reason); because it is a (mere) idea and because the idea manifests itself as external thing, (example;) just like a dream-thought and the double-moon idea.<sup>4</sup>
- 3. Thus<sup>5</sup> the advocate of Idealism (theory of mind alone) proves the non-existence of the external thing. Now, we at the outset prove that the external things on the basis of experience never contradicted<sup>6</sup> in our daily life (avisamvadadrsti).
- 4. The alternative prosposition that either the object-cause (alambana) is unreal because its knowledge is contradicted in our daily experience, or it is so, because the material and other things are not fit to exist, is, both unsatisfactory.
- 5. One<sup>8</sup> experiences in dream one's own body chopped up into pieces; but this act of chopping is utterly unreal. If externalism is untrue in dream, does it apply to the waking stage?
- 6. If you mean (lit. desire) that the beheading of a waking person and his bodily exuberance resemble a dream experience, why are you then so much care-laden about your gain and loss.
- 7. If you say that every human activity is guided by illusion; but there is no perversion in naming things. A knowledge which is non-illusive is naver contradicted. What is contradicted is always illusive.
- 8. A knowledge<sup>13</sup> of a material thing which differs from neither space<sup>14</sup> nor time is never contradicted; hence it is non-illusive (abhranta). This alone is the characteristic of non-illusive knowledge and nothing else.
- 9—10a. The<sup>15</sup> person who comprehends the extremely long things as well as the extremely small things is distinguished as the Saint<sup>16</sup> (Yogin). (In case of absolute denial of external things) the Buddhist Saint would not be omniscient and not get double sided release<sup>17</sup> (ubhayatobhaga-vimukti) and thus Buddhahood would also be contradicted.

10. b-d. (The Idealist continues:)<sup>18</sup> Even our truly apprehension (yathavatpratiti) that every thing exists absolutely resembles the experience of things in dream.

Now, why does it not become possibly contradicted (as a dreamy thing does)?

- 11. If 19 (things exist) on account of deep-rooted impressions (vasana), why are not the dreamy things also explained (In the like manner?) Hence the cognizable things like village and garden, etc. are true and become visible.
- 12. The<sup>20</sup> mere thought bereft of sense-data and its impression (vasana) are all momentary; (thus) the gain of their resultant fruits is interrupted. (Therefore) the sense-data (be admitted) as the stable causes of <sup>21</sup> fruition.
- 13. For<sup>22</sup> him who opines that the knowledge of one<sup>23</sup> taste does not at all arise from any sense-datum, the nature of that knowledge (we ask) is whether permanent or impermanent.
- 14. If<sup>24</sup> it is similar to a dream (lit. sleep) will it not produce its resultant fruit? The cause of fruition (vipaka) being present, the destruction of fruition is improper.
- 15. Just<sup>25</sup> as something seen by a sleepy person in his dream does not appear the same in the next moment, and hence becomes impermanent; likewise the destruction of the matured fruition is possible.
- 16. In<sup>26</sup> whose opinion the sense-data are non-existent and hence there is no occasion (lit. cause) for preaching, (for him) the fruition will repeat endless even after its destruction.<sup>27</sup>
- 17. Why<sup>28</sup> do you view that a man does a religious action by virtue of his deep-rooted impressions (vasana) of non-contradiction? If you say: because the material and other external things are unfit to be real, to this point we shall reply (later on).
- 18. If <sup>29</sup> non-contradiction in the waking state persists on account of the maturation of asraya (= Alayavijnana) why is it not (like this) that as long as there is eye-disese (timira) as basis (asraya), so long there is non-contradiction<sup>30</sup>?

- 19. Suppose<sup>31</sup> the Yogacarin acts (pravrtti) on the notion of mind alone (Cittamatrata) and on the presumption of the all alambana<sup>31A</sup> as false; when in the interval the notion of Cittamatrata is absent, even then the act is not contradicted (avisamvada) and therefore the act is not caused by that notion.
- 20. The<sup>32</sup> Sakti matured (paripaka) for aropa, assumption is produced from some other external thing and not from the self<sup>33</sup> just like the sesame seed produced is from its flower.
- 21. And<sup>34</sup> the seed from the water, etc. What is produced from a cause, that product is similar to its cause. No vasana<sup>35</sup> is to be assumed on account of the genesis of the fruit as one infers the fire at the sight of the smoke.
- 22. Things<sup>36</sup> are made fragrant on account of an act praduced from some other thing; for example, the sesame seed becomes fragrant on its contact with the Jati<sup>37</sup> flowers.
- 23. Here<sup>38</sup> the seven kinds of consciousness are produced from their upadana consciousness and their seeds being previously imputed there and dormant become matured into such consciousness under favourable conditions.
- 24. Therefore<sup>39</sup> the theory of vasana needs not to be assumed (as the Idealist does) on the presumption that no entity is produced from another entity, declare the advocates of Sakti.<sup>40</sup>
- 25. Nevertheless,<sup>41</sup> if you say: the knowledge of adhigama (rtogs.pa), definite perceptual experiences arises of its own accord (svatantratah) and this my opinion may be compared with the fact of the seed<sup>42</sup> which being sowed matures of itself.
- 26. This<sup>43</sup> opinion too is not acceptable. Again your plea that its dependence on its upadana consciousness is common to us both, is not valid as it incurs a logical fallacy of mutual reliance (anyony asraya).<sup>44</sup>
- 27.-28a. This<sup>45</sup> defect is absent in the system<sup>46</sup> which holds that Saktis that are imputed (aropita) by the knowledge produced by the sensuous objects get nourished and matured into seven kinds of sensuous consciousness by dint of some Visesa, excellence of favourable conditions, like the object, time, individual, etc.

- 28 b-d. But<sup>47</sup> there is a system<sup>48</sup> of thought which maintains that there is not any cause (of our objective experiences) other than the knowledge itself named  $upadan_{\mathcal{I}}$  (= Alaya-vijnana) and this is quite irrelevant.
- 29. When 49 the proposition of Cittamatrata that is to be established the proof or argument (sadhana) is the knowledge itself (Jnanatva); this proof is non-contradictory to any heterogeneous case (vijatiya) and therefore the said proposition is declared to be sesavat<sup>50</sup> (i.e. sesavad-anumana).
- 30. A<sup>51</sup> close scrutiny (legs-dpyad) joyfulness (dgah mgur) engagement (pravrtti) gain of the good and rejection of the bad; all these activities of the wake-up person never exist in dream.
- 31. Certain<sup>52</sup> sensuous knowledge errors on account of some impediment (-this is possible). But to say that even in the absence of an impediment there is an error<sup>53</sup> creates an absolute darkness in the universe.

ATOMIC THEORY PROVED.

- 32. Others<sup>54</sup> say: Everything is nothing but consciousness; the notion that there is an external object (corresponding to the sensuous consciousness) is a mental illusion. The knowable (object) is what is produced internally from one's own mind but it is not a visible object (rupa) (existing externally outside of the mind<sup>55</sup>).
- 33a-c. The<sup>56</sup> proposition that there exists no object is to be maintained (samsadhya); because each atom is not separately cognized, atoms do not appear in knowledge<sup>57</sup>:—So says Dinnaga.
- 33d-34. (Hetu-Reason)<sup>58</sup> would become doubtful (sandigh-dha) when it is applied to Citta and Caitta, mind and mental-phenomena.

Just like momentary things are not cognized in their discrete moments, the atoms would be undetermined even by the understand ing of Tathagata.

35. (The author continues:)<sup>59</sup> Just as the illusive idea of permanance appears to us as a result of continuous rise of homogeneous moments (= momentary atoms) in succession, just so the illusive idea of a patch of blue appears as a result of cognition of the uninterrupted and homogeneous atoms.

- 36. When<sup>60</sup> we cognize in our mind the uninterrupted and homogeneous atoms, our constructive thought constructs their oneness<sup>61</sup>.
- 37. Therefore<sup>62</sup> the theory (of the Idealists) that the atoms in their self-substance are not reflected in our<sup>63</sup> consiousness is totally unfounded.
- 38. What<sup>64</sup> a form of object is reflected in a knowledge, from that object-form its knowledge does not arise, and this object-form is not a substance (dravya) and resembles the double<sup>65</sup> moon: (says-Dinnaga). This conclusion is not a sound one because its hetu, probans is not at all proved as valid one.
- 39. The 66 atoms which being integrated, discharge a uniform action are termed Sancita, 67 integrated;—to the upholder of this opinion how do the atoms become non-substances (adravya)?
- 40. They 68 (atoms) are spoken of as one but they possess no oneness. For, the import of all words being investigated is not at all reflected in the sensuous consciousness. 69
- 41. The<sup>70</sup> philosopher (i.e. Idealist) who states that one part of the mind reflects as the object-image in consciousness must have witnessed a piece of carpet with pictures in variegated colours<sup>71</sup> (Citrapataka).
- 42. In<sup>72</sup> certain place, when an image of certain object (rupa) is cognized, that image being related to higher and lower areas (asraya) appears divided (to form) a picture in varied forms<sup>73</sup>.
- 43. An<sup>74</sup> atom which may manifest its own single knowledge cannot appear in life as separated from other atoms. When it appears associated with other atoms it loses its atomic form, how then could each of the atoms appear to our knowledge?<sup>75</sup>
- 44. Atoms<sup>76</sup> cannot each individually and independently appear in life and this is also the reason why each of the atoms never flashes out in our consciousness.
- 45. Vasubandhu's<sup>77</sup> criticism of the atoms on the basis of their spacial distinctions is baseless<sup>78</sup>. For, the term, space (diksabda) is employed on the atom itself that is associated with some other atoms.

- 46. Hence<sup>79</sup> by the spacial distinctions the atoms themselves are meant when surrounded by several<sup>80</sup> other atoms but never the atoms are constituted of parts.
- 47. When<sup>81</sup> one atom is situated at the bottom and the other on the other side they so situated never become double on account of these two sides.
- 48. When<sup>82</sup> the atoms are situated in the midst of several atoms, they are imagined as many and likewise by the process of reverse of the one they are assumed as many.
- 49. A<sup>83</sup> (gross) form distinct from its own, for example, is witnessed on the atoms as a result of their mutual combinations (Lit. one depending upon another) but this gross form does not at all exist there just like a distinction of the front and the back made on the atoms.<sup>84</sup>
- 50. If, 85 as a result of atoms being uninterruptedly knit together in a large number, one substantial whole (avayavin) is conceived, why will not the moments that are preceeding and succeeding in an uninterrupted succession be conceived so 86 (i.e. one indivisible time-unit)?
- 51. Since<sup>87</sup> knowledge continues to exist for two moments<sup>88</sup> its uninterrupted existence (nairantarya) is possible, yet the form of one unit (avayavi-rupa) is not permissible on the knowledge; the same principle is likewise applicable to the atoms<sup>89</sup> also.
- 52. By<sup>90</sup> virtue of a peculiar relationship (pratyasatti) amongst atoms the entry of a moving body into the aggregated company of atoms is hindered and by the same device the covering of atoms by other atoms is accepted, but not due to their constituent parts.<sup>91</sup>
- 53. The<sup>92</sup> shadow is produced when there is a covering of the sun, but that shadow is not proper to be accepted as existing in between the two atoms of the sun.<sup>93</sup>
- 54. Just<sup>94</sup> as the power of producing the shadow and covering is the phenomenon of several united things so also is the case with several atoms but no single atoms can produce such phenomenon.
- 55. Therefore<sup>95</sup> what is stated by Vasubandhu that a lump (pinda) is impossible to exist<sub>96</sub> since the distinction between the atoms and the lump is not available, may perhaps be accidental (kadacitka) if there is any propriety in maintaining the atoms as stagnant (i.e. never transformed into any other form under any circumstances).

- 56. The<sup>97</sup> atoms, (though) they are mutually un-related<sup>98</sup> and devoid of parts, nevertheless become integrated and accomplish (the gross things like) the globe of earth, and others.
- 57. By99 virtue of some excellence of mutual efficiency (anugraha) the atoms become transformed and likewise they never become scattered (i.e.) of the diamond (vajra) and other such things.
- 58. Certain<sup>100</sup> atoms become integrated by virtue of their peculiar substance-efficiency (dravya-sakti) just like the evil spirit (pisaca) the serpent and others are subdued by force of mantra-sakti.
- 59. But<sup>101</sup> there are many other atoms having very little power and strength<sup>102</sup> (to appear in life).

The 103 person endowed with a sharp intellect and living in a mountain (acala) and such other places could count the atoms of the hell (and the heaven), etc. with their numbers and other distinctions.

- 60-61a. Therefore<sup>104</sup> it is not proper to declare that the atoms do not at all exist. If you say that the affirmation of the atoms has been made due to some illusion (bhranti) then your understanding<sup>105</sup> that everything is nothing but the activity of the sixth knowledge (= intellect) would be much more illusory resembling an illusory knowledge of the number 'eight' on the aggregate of eight atoms.
- 61b-62. If 106 you plead that the conception of the atoms is a notion mistaken for some other basic 107 thing for these two considerations, viz. (1) that things like the hell, etc. are known as nothing but condemned living beings 108 and (2) that the atoms are never cognized directly (in our perceptual experiences), then why do you not state likewise (as illusory) of the number form and other characteristics of Pradhana 109 and Purusa, etc.?
- 63. You<sup>110</sup> may say: The same remark holds good with regard to such things also because Pradhana is regarded in the terms of some excellence of characters (gunatisaya) (like sattva, - rajas and tamas). I now reply: though the conception of Pradhana, etc. is illusory, this does not warrant us to forsake our previous contention (about the atoms).

- 64. Therefore<sup>111</sup> the atoms are existing really. They are not cognized by any body other the sages living in<sup>112</sup> a mountain and other places. The atoms are conceived because the saints cognize them.

Saha-vedana, co-cognition possible

- 65. When<sup>113</sup> two persons (look at an object) in a place, it is an invariable rule that they have simultaneous cognition of it; it is also the law of nature that knowledge with its content (lit. knowable) are invariably cognized at once.<sup>114</sup>
- 66. There<sup>115</sup> is no cognizer other than knowledge and the visual knowledge is no more cognizer in the absence of visible objects, and therefore their cognition is simultaneous but this co-cognition is not due to the identity between the object, i.e. patch of blue and its cognizer.
- 67. If 116 the consciousness is not in the mood of cognizer or the knowledge is bereft of an object, then only that could reasonably be stated so and not otherwise. 117
- 68. If 118 the term saha is employed to signify one and the same time the reason (i.e. Sahopalambha) becomes indefinite in all respects (anaikantika) when it is applied to the Buddha's knowledge which co-exists with its content, other's mind (jneyacetasa) and the mind that co-exists with mental properties (citta-caittaisca).
- 69. If the mental properties are not illusory as they are sanctioned in the scriptures; how do you then say that the knowledge of the ghost, 120 hell and others is an illusion?
- 70. If,<sup>121</sup> even in the absence of any relevancy some distinction (between the idea of the hell, etc. and the mental elements) saves your difficulty (lit. serves your purpose), that distinction is absolutely unproved, yet you cherish it proved; thus your rejoinder is based again on illusion.
- 71. The 122 term 'saha' co-existence is never employed in the world in any place where a companion is not available. The reason (hetu—Sahopalambha) will then be a contradictory one if there is really a co-cognition.

- 72. If 123 the term Saha 'co-existence' is taken to mean one and the same thing (ekarthi) then hetu would be unproved (asiddha) for other party; 124 for example when some common things are present, how does only one person look at them?
- 73. If 125 every mind of other living beings is cognized by the knowledge of the omniscient being, then, where is it proved that only one person experiences it (ekena upalambha)?
- 74. The<sup>126</sup> object-cause felt by a peron internally in his own mind cannot be denied by any other person, as there can be no evidence for doing so.

The reason (hetu) further becomes doubtful and unproved on the ground that it is, in its very nature, far removed, i.e. beyond the reach of other's cognizance (svabhava-viprakrsta = nan-bshin. bkhal. ba).

- 75. If 127 the reason (hetu) considered to be proved as a result of the denial of external things and (thus leading to the conclusion) that one aspect of the consciousness itself is cognizable, then the reason would be known to only one party 128 who plead for the doctrine of mind alone (cittamatrata).
- 76. If 129 you consider it a proven fact that the knowledge and the knowable flash out as identical (aprthakbhasa), then the reason would simply prove what is already proved. Even the advocate of knowledge having the capacity to assume the image of the object (sakarajnanavadin) would not dispute here in this matter 130 (thus leading to siddhasadhanata).
- 77. If you<sup>131</sup> conceive the object-cause as identical (with its knowledge) how is it that the object-cause is cognized distinctly from the knowledge?
- 78. Suppose,<sup>132</sup> for example, a man, while experiencing an external object (artha), has joyful feelings in this wise: this shell is black, if these feelings are regarded as coming from the knowledge itself this will be improbable in the absence of experience of the object in that fashion.<sup>133</sup>
- 79. If 134 certain imaginary form (kalpita-rupa i.e. black) of knowledge is experienced, then its real form is not experienced; therefore the reason (Sahopalambha) is not proper to set up.
- 80. For 135 this reason two forms 136 of the knowledge are to be experienced in the same manner as the double moon is looked at by some. Thus the author's (= Dharmakirti) statement of "one" (abheda) becomes unfounded.

- 81. The<sup>137</sup> causal factors (samagri)<sup>138</sup> of the preceeding moment give rise to a full cognition of the object in the next moment just in the same fashion as a visible object (rupa) in association with the light produces its cognition, due to which fact a successive<sup>139</sup> cognition (sahavedana) would become justifiable.
- 82. When the knowledge and its sense-organ happen to be just one after another (purvapara) the term co-cognition (sahavedana) is used by way of similarity (with a simultaneous phenomenon) but never there is literally co-cognition (sahavedanam na arthatah).
- 83. Since<sup>141</sup> the knowledge-content is felt internally, it is no entity other than the self of knowledge; to the advocate of the system of maintaining the knowledge possessing a knowable aspect in itself the reason becomes undetermined.<sup>142</sup>
- 84. Since<sup>143</sup> it is the law of nature that a knowledge cognizes its content (jnanam vetti), the knowledge is said to be cognized; since the content produces the knowledge as reflector of itself it is consided as cognized.<sup>144</sup>
- 85. Though<sup>145</sup> the term 'cognized' (samvedya) is applied equally to the knowledge and its content, its tmport is quite different. For, the wild cow, etc, e.g. are not regarded of the (same) forms, visanin, horned figure on account of <sup>145A</sup> the usage of the term, cow, etc.
- 86. There 146 are certain dharmas which are contemplated in the minds of other streams of elements (santanantara) are perceived by the knowledge of the Omniscient (Sarvajna). Then the reason (when it is applied to those dharmas) becomes uncertain, 146A anaikantika (because they are perceived simultaneously, yet distinct from the knowledge of the Omniscient). If he does not comprehend them, how can he be an Omniscient? 146B
- 87. In<sup>147</sup> the system of the image-invested knowledge (of the Sautrantika) the knowledge is perceived only when it reflects the image of an object. If you desire to prove the identity of the knowledge with its reflected image the reason would then, simply achieve what is already achieved (siddha-sadhanata).
- 88. The 148 external thing (artha) produces in the knowledge an image similar to itself and as a result of this fact it is considered as perceived figuratively.<sup>149</sup> The external thing is not at all perceived and hence its identity with knowledge will not be proved.

- 89. If 150 you ask: How is the knowledge (or consciouness) considered to be the cognizer of its object? (we answer:) the consciousness is characterized as (if it is) measuring the object (tat pariccheda laksana) and therefore no query should be made as to: how is it and what like it is?
- 90. (In<sup>151</sup> the system of the Sautrantika-Yogacaras) an image is aroused and imprinted in consciousness by the external things; how could it be said that the consciousness is a measurer of the external thing (artha-paricchedaka)?
- 91. Consciousness<sup>152</sup> (by law of nature) is considered to be entirely a comprehending agent and hence it is irrelevant to ask how the consciousness would comprehend its own object.<sup>153</sup>
- 92. The<sup>154</sup> consciousness is not creator of any thing and in fact, it is functionless. Its characteristic, however, is mere awareness of the presence of an object<sup>155</sup> (vittimatra), but the act of creation, is attributed to it by imposition (samaropa).
- 93. Just<sup>156</sup> as a saint of detached vision enters into the self of knowledge (inana-rupa), etc. so also the person of a meagre vision enters into it.
- 94. No<sup>157</sup> distinction exists between the Saint and the world-ling so far as their knowledge alone is concerned. But the great souls however, are distinguished by their knowledge of varied aspects<sup>158</sup> (Sarvakaradhi).
- 95. Do<sup>159</sup> we enquire into the knowledge of the Buddha whether it assumes the image of the object or does not, and again whether it comprehends the object simultaneously or successively.<sup>160</sup>

Akara-vada disproved

- 96. What<sup>191</sup> image according to you, presumably exists as pertaining to an object-knowledge, that image exists in fact only in the external thing like the visible element (rupa), etc. but it is assumed to exist in the knowledge.<sup>162</sup>
- 97. It<sup>163</sup> is irrelevant to say that not any cognizable thing exists for the Saint who has given up all obscurations<sup>164</sup> (avarana); for, he is anchored in this cognizable (world); how can it be substituted and equalized to the mind alone (tanmatra-sama)?

- 98. Our,<sup>165</sup> intellect is sole demonstrating agent whether the external thing exists or does not exist. There really exist the external objects to which fact no contradiction is experienced,<sup>166</sup> for example in the case of eye-disease, etc. some figure is observed even when there is not any figure.
- 99. Likewise<sup>166</sup> one thinks that he experiences in the knowledge a patch of blue and accordingly imposes upon the knowledge the presence of the blue image but in fact no such image exists in it.
- 100. The 167 assumption that the image exists in the know-ledge or does not exist is a type of consciousness in the nature of a productive imagination (kalpanatma). The consciousness, however, becomes differentiated due to visesa, individual characteristic of the observed object. 168
- 101. You<sup>169</sup> plead that the knowledge which is in fact imageless<sup>170</sup> experiences its unreal image, I likewise, advocate that the imageless knowledge experiences the real external thing.
- 102. There<sup>171</sup> is not a distinct self of the knowledge (in the form of a separate knowable aspect); for, to assume it would contradict the non-dual essence of the knowledge (advaya-jnana). No unreal image could be experienced by the knowledge; (if the image is experienced) it would turn to be non-illusory.
- 103. If <sup>172</sup> (you argue that) the above arrangement has been made in accordance with the presumption under the influence of the deep rooted illusion, then the image of the knowledge ought to be viewed as illusory, <sup>173</sup> otherwise how could it be an assumed image?
- 104. Hence<sup>174</sup> consciousness which is imageless in truth, would comprehend (pariccid) through the agency of the material eye, etc. all the fitting things whether existent or non-existent.<sup>175</sup>
- 105. If <sup>176</sup> (you say that) just as the lamp<sup>177</sup> illumines the self as well as others, just so the consciousness (illumines) the selves of two alambanas<sup>178</sup> (of one kind); then, there would be no contradiction at all.
- 106. However<sup>179</sup> the various objects, visible, sound etc. are domains of various<sup>180</sup> sense-organs; hence they cannot be experienced by one sense-organ.

- 107a-b. (According to you) even when different causes are absent the knowledge is experienced as (in the presence of) alambana.<sup>181</sup>
- 107c-9a. A<sup>182</sup> knowledge arises from an external object as similar to it and that knowledge in the immediately next moment bears an image similar to that external thing:—this contention is a simple illusion<sup>183</sup>; for, the knowledge does not exist as permanent (to assume the image of the object). Further there is not any experience of the self of the knowledge similar to the object at the moment when the object becomes illuminated.
- 109b-10a. In<sup>184</sup> every mind the knowledge form<sup>185</sup> is uniform-if this view is favoured, it could not be stated particularly, it is similar to this object.
- 110b-d. When<sup>186</sup> this (knowledge) illumines the cognizable thing no knowledge immediately after that would appear, because it becomes entirely assimilated with its content<sup>187</sup> (visaya).
- 111-12b. If,<sup>188</sup> while the knowledge lights up just a patch of blue, etc. the knowledge lighting up the patch of blue, etc. exists immediately after that, and then, if it exists having the patch of blue as its content, then at that time the knowledge is not similar to the object. True, it exists indeed, but never similar (to its content).

Grahya aspect criticised

112c-13. The 189 Tathagata's saying, for example, that all is impermanent and sorrowful does not exhibit as content the cognizable aspect of knowledge (grahyabhaga).

If you are inclined to plead that since the object-cause (alambana) is not fit to exist in the external, the cognizable aspect of the knowledge is accepted as the content, then the characteristic of the content cannot appropriately be applied to it ( $\equiv$  content).

- 114. How<sup>191</sup> does the mind exist as separated from its act of construction?<sup>192</sup> That idea is only a fancy of your mind (cittasvaabhasa). There does not exist the mind shedding light on its content, because the latter is not available (for you) other the mind itself.
- 115a-b. If 193 there is nothing productive (of the knowledge), how is it at all desired 194 (as content)?

Discussion on the actual object

- 115c-16b. The 195 simple atoms and the co-agulated atoms (in your system) are not the object-causes, because they lack one requisite (anga) each. 196 How is the denial of both (simple and co-agulated atoms) cherished?
- 116c-17b. The 197 knowledge in the form of cognizer is devoid of two characteristics (of alambana, viz. objectivity and causality). Then if there is no object-cause (alambana) (for you) the cognizable aspect of knowledge is also not accepted (by us).
- 117c-18b. The opinion that a similar showledge of the previous moment serves as the object-cause (of the next following knowledge) is also improper; for, no knowledge flashes up (bhati) immediately after a similar knowledge.
- 118c-19b. If 200 the knowledge in the form of a visible object (rupa) arises due to contact with the knowledge of the sound, how will that knowledge of rupa be similar to the alambana, i.e. sound?<sup>201</sup>
- 119c-20b. Some<sup>202</sup> consider that a force (sakti) producing a knowledge akin to its content is the object-cause.<sup>203</sup> This opinion is also improper; for, no force, sakti is reflected in the sensuous knowledge.
- 120c-21b. If 204 (you again argue that) the objectivity lies in the cognizable part of knowledge and that alone remains invariably as the object, (we may reply that) the external thing (artha) (as the object) has been proved from the standpoint of the world and therefore its characteristic as alambana exists indeed though not expressly stated.
- 121c-22b. If <sup>205</sup> you say that the force of knowledge is also quite familiar with the world, it is not definitely proved as the content (artha). If it lacks the characteristic<sup>206</sup> (of alambana) how can it be alambana?
- 122c-23b. (Thus)<sup>207</sup> it is proper to maintain on close scrutiny that the external object-cause alone is desirable on the authority of the world and scripture, but never the cognizable aspect of knowledge by any means.<sup>208</sup>
- 123c-24b. The<sup>209</sup> objects like desirable and undesirable<sup>210</sup> never exist in the external in truth and hence all this is nothing but mind: this contention is absolutely irrelevant.

- 124c-25b. On<sup>211</sup> certain unpleasant material object if one meditates as good (he experiences it as good); for, the result becomes distinguished with some benefaction on account of varied causes.<sup>212</sup>
- 125c-26b. Certain<sup>213</sup> knowledge relating to an object (artha) reflects (the same object) as a patch of bluish (vinilaka) and immediately after that (the object) turns to be in the form of unpleasant thing, etc. (duhkharupadi) on account of meditation; likewise it may become otherwise on account of other causes.
- 126c-27b. Feelings<sup>214</sup> like joy, sorrow and dullness are all become differentiated by virtue of kinds of meditation but they never arise from any kind of external things—if this is your contention; how is it proper?
- 127c-28b. (The<sup>215</sup> Idealist continues) All your refutations are made on the assumption (of external things) (aropa); Why is it unreasonable to accept the truth of no alambana in the external? The external things we establish by virtue of their efficiency (arthakriya) and we negate them when there is no efficiency.
- 128c-30c. If <sup>216</sup> you say, even in the absence of the external things the purposive action<sup>217</sup> is achieved and therefore the external things are not accepted, then we may reply that we establish their existence not merely on account of their efficiency, but also on account of efficiency being witnessed even in the case of their perverted knowledge (viparyaya-jnana).
- 130d-31c. But<sup>218</sup> again as a result of securing the external things good or harm could be afflicted to the body; some sort of simple efficiency (kriyamatra)<sup>219</sup> is experienced even in the case of a mistaken notion (vibhrama) of some thing present for something absent.
- 131d-132c. As<sup>220</sup> to the argument based on the sexual act (kama-carita)<sup>221</sup> in dream, we may say that the semen-discharge is a necessary phenomenon. If one has not that phenomenon, how can he be considered to have gained the sexual pleasure (one of the four purposes of human actions)?
- 132d-133c. Since<sup>222</sup> the semen-discharge and the extreme passion (raga) are specially related (to each other) the former happens also on the occasion other than the dream; for example when one embraces a woman out of extreme love no contradiction is felt to the phenomenon of semen-discharge.

- 133d-134c. If,<sup>223</sup> in the presence of a woman, the discharge happens out of extreme passion why does one not discharge the nail, the tooth, etc. as he discharges semen in dream?
- 134d-135c. If,<sup>224</sup> in the absence of a woman, the discharge happens out of extreme passion, why does he not discharge the nail, the tooth, etc. as he discharges semen in dream?
- 135d-136b. The<sup>225</sup> semen being discharged out of extreme passion (raga) the purpose of life is fulfilled:—this idea is not a happy one.<sup>226</sup>
- 136d-137b. For<sup>227</sup> example, when it is not spoken even as a simple act,<sup>228</sup> the gain of the son, etc. that are experienced in dream as realities are all contradicted to the actually perceptual experiences.
- 137c-138c. Since<sup>229</sup> there really exist the keepers<sup>230</sup> of the hell, etc. as produced from the said acts, the system of everything as a reflected image of consciousness is neither admissible nor is any purposive action in dream possible. Therefore the doctrine of Cittamatrata "mind alone" becomes unproved.
- 138d-139c. When<sup>231</sup> different living bodies are evident for proving the existence of other minds, the existence of the hell also may likewise, be (entertained). On what evidence then do you deny the existence of other living beings?<sup>232</sup>
- 139d-140c. Similarly<sup>233</sup> the god (i.e. Garuda) bestowing the boon of reviving the life (anugraha) on the person who is dead on account venom poured out from the hood (of a serpent) remains true in his promise.<sup>234</sup>
- 140d-141b. In<sup>235</sup> the absence of preliminary<sup>236</sup> rites efficient act can not be accomplished; therefore that (efficient act) is not a simple creation of the mind.
- 141c-d. Why<sup>237</sup> is the knowledge of the others' thought-discerner is untrue (ayathartha) '?<sup>238</sup>
- 142. When<sup>239</sup> other's mind being present our knowledge enters into it (that knowledge is considered to be its cognizer). (or) when some object being present, the knowledge assumes the image<sup>240</sup> of that object, then the knowledge is considered to be its cognizer.
- 143a-c. The<sup>241</sup> grasping of an object (by the mind) is not an act similar to that of running<sup>242</sup> towards its object, just immediately after which the knowledge_would arise.

- 143d-144b. So<sup>243</sup> also is the case with the knowledge of one's own mind.<sup>244</sup> (In both the cases) the mind is regarded as cognizer in the manner above described (i.e. pariccheda-laksana).
- 144c-145b. The<sup>245</sup> memory is a mind being directed towards the past thing What is directed towards the past (bhuta = yan-dag) is not a cognition<sup>246</sup> (graha) because that mind does not flash up from its cause.
- 145c-146b. The<sup>247</sup> non-dual form (advaya-rupa) which is (supposed to be) domain of the well-awakened (Sambudda) is not cognizable to us and therefore<sup>248</sup> untrue (ayathartha). What is said to be untrue, is un-satisfactory because of the non-dual nature (advayatvat) of the knowledge.
- 146c-147b. The<sup>249</sup> Buddha is Omniscient because he comprehends the entire cognizable universe through the agency of his cognizing knowledge, and not because he does so in a non-dual form.<sup>250</sup>
- 147c-148c. To<sup>251</sup> what is said (by Dignaga), viz. a non-describable form is cognized (by one's own self, we now ask:) What<sup>252</sup> is cognized by other person, is it possible to describe because the other's mind can be comprehended?
- 148d-49. Then<sup>253</sup> there exists definitely the object-cause in the external and therefore every mind is not at all (proved to be) objectless (niralambana). If the mind has not any cognizable in the external anywhere, how could one become omniscient?<sup>254</sup>
- 150-151b. By<sup>255</sup> comprehending one's own mind alone there may be nothing but the self-knowledge of the mind (svasamvedana).

If any one is supposed to be omniscient by merely comprehending one's own mind and he is known to be a separate individual then there would be no realisation of the mind alone (cittamatra-darsana).

- 151c-152b. If 256 you think that this defect is obviated in view of the fact that the knowledge is non-dual in its nature, how, then does that (non-dual) knowledge comprehend its content?
- 152c- (If<sup>257</sup> you say again, that) when the knowledge becomes freed from every kind of dual form then it comprehends the universe in all aspects—this saying is indeed a matter of great wonder. Therefore there is one (i.e. omniscient) in the nature of comprehending (grahaka-rupa) (the entire universe).

- 153. There<sup>258</sup> is not any person known to us as omniscient—says a self-styled wiseman<sup>259</sup> amongst the so called learned persons; but this saying reveals his dull intellect (sva-durmati) being engrossed in it.
- 154. As<sup>260</sup> the actual experiences dictate it is possible that as a result of contemplation on certain definite antidote the whole group of desire and other defilements are entirely destroyed.
- 155. But <sup>261</sup> there is hardly any possibility of applying an antidote in the case (of the Yogacara conception of emancipation; for the Yogacara holds) that the mind of all worldlings is under the firm grip of dual forms (subject and object) and this idea of dual form may be destroyed by contemplation on some object.
- 156. The<sup>262</sup> knowledge which flashes out in the form 'this is void (sunya)' is related to (lit. entered into) to the said dual forms and such knowledge being associated with dual forms; how can it serve as an antidote?<sup>263</sup>
- 157. Just<sup>264</sup> as one meditating on a desirable object does not destroy his desire, just so a man meditating on a thing in dual form does not destroy the idea of dual form.
- 158. Assuming<sup>265</sup> in the mind an idea of entity<sup>266</sup> one contemplates upon it of no-soul. But the principle of non-duality, a mere word has not any purpose (nirartha) and hence a contemplation upon it will be quite unnecessary.
- 159. The<sup>267</sup> contemplation upon impermanence frees one quickly from the delusion of permanence. (-a reasonable proposition). (But in your system) by discarding every kind of perceptual experiences one necessarily secures Buddhahood (not a reasonable proposition).
- 160. The<sup>268</sup> person who is free from every kind of perceptual experiences is completely inactive. Thus Buddhahood is desired (by you) without making any effort and practice.<sup>269</sup>
- 161. Therefore<sup>270</sup> the state of well-faring (Saugata-pada) i.e. Buddhahood is secured on constant practice of compassion towards the sentient beings, doing good for them, and meditating on every manifested elements of existence as impermanent (samas krta-anitya).<sup>271</sup>

- 162. When<sup>272</sup> one entertains the idea of mind alone, how could he fulfil the preliminary duties such as charity, etc. In the absence of charity there is no possibility of one obtaining the Buddhahood.
- 163. If<sup>273</sup> you argue that under the influence of mutual causation and on the principle<sup>274</sup> of mind-alone thought arises in the form of acts like giving and taking the charity. That cannot be proved either by percaption, inference or reliable scripture. Such system is only a presumption and it is nothing but a verbal eloquence.
- 165. When<sup>275</sup> one practises repeatedly and several times mentally a charity-thought (i.e. the thought in the form of charity) it never releases anybody from poverty.
- 166. Even<sup>276</sup> if innumerable thoughts (manaskara) of Yogins are meditated upon (by us) neither happiness is gained nor misery is removed in reality.
- 167. In<sup>277</sup> doling out everything (material) to all living beings and in fulfilling the charity of compassion there exists no distinction in the nature of things (arthatmana=arthasvarupa) however, in practising the compassion-charity we have a prohibitive injunction not to give certain<sup>278</sup> things (viz. three garments, etc).
- 168. There<sup>279</sup> was great Decease of the Buddha in the world and we have his relic now as his mortal remains. The mansion and monastery, etc. are witnessed by us; how can they be products of the mind-alone<sup>280</sup> (lit. paratantra)?
- 169 If<sup>281</sup> these things have no existence of their own how can we infer therefrom the great events of the past? If the past events are not inferred, the whole system would be reduced into an extreme materialism (lokayata).
- 170. A<sup>292</sup> man witnessing the relics of the Saint who is purified through emancipation of the Sravaka, disciple becomes free from passions. If he has no recollection (lit. inference) of the past event, how can he entertain the faith (in his relics)?
- 171. If 284 (you say) it is produced by succession (prabandha) of people the life is seen to be cut off. If you again say that one continues to exist due to other, how would there be complete and last deliverance (parinirvana)?

- 172. It 285 is the settled fact in the worldly system that from the seed, etc. come up sprout, etc. and therefore there is not any sound reasoning for the plea that the whole universe is nothing but the mind.
- 173: When<sup>287</sup> a knowledge arises immediately after a knowledge, the subsequent knowledge is the result of the previous knowledge-cause.<sup>288</sup> This rule is also not permissible (in your system).
- 174. Thus,<sup>289</sup> (e.g.) there would arise the knowledge of smoke in the absence of the knowledge of the<sup>290</sup> fire, and also the knowledge of the sprout would arise from non-knowledge of the seed.
- 175. If <sup>291</sup> you plead that mind perfumed by the knowledge of the fire produces (lit. is the cause of) the knowledge of the smoke; when there are several potentialities (sakti) in the mind, wherefrom could arise the thought of distinction?
- 176. If <sup>292</sup> the cause immediately preceding knowledge (or mind) of fire is the cause of the mind of the smoke, that also is not good; for, the mind of fire is not definite (=concomitant) with the mind of smoke.
- 177. When<sup>293</sup> the concomitance is completely unproved how do the people talk in the unmixed terms about the cause thus: this result arises from that cause?
- 178. Therefore<sup>294</sup> the doctrine that the whole universe is Chittamatra, 'mind-alone' has been declared (by the Buddha) aiming at the imaginary or assumed aspect of the external things (kalpitam asritya) but not because the matter, etc. are improbable to exist.<sup>295</sup>
- 179. For<sup>296</sup> what (object) one may display desire and other passions, Buddha viewing that object as merely an imaginary (kalpita = Vikalpita) has preached the doctrine of no-soul with reference to these (the assumed) things<sup>296</sup> a in order to remove all such passions (dosa) of the worldings.
- 180. Similarly <sup>297</sup> in other places too the Buddha has stated that the external things do not exist in such forms as are assumed by the ordinary worldings.<sup>298</sup> Why is it so? (Buddha's knowledge) is superior to (that of ordinary worldings).
- 181. Since<sup>299</sup> some sort of agent has been just previously stated and the duties are understood alongside of the attachment towards an agent as real the idea of agent as real is necessarily to be negated.<sup>300</sup>

- 182-183. In<sup>301</sup> other places it has been likewise declared thus: There is something inferred (kalpita) and some other thing fancied, vikalpita (=parikalpita). The true form of dharmata (dharmata-rupa=gzugs=form=svarupa) has been explained thus; dharmata is svalaksana, self-essence. What is kalpita is no other than a basic reality (bhavamatra), and the vikalpita is its diversity (bheda). This diversity of dharmata will be inappropriate in the absence af bhava<sup>302</sup> (some basic entity, i.e. atoms).
- 184. If<sup>303</sup> the Rupa is declared to be sunya (devoid of rupa-nature) how the term rupa is employed on it? If you argue that it is done so on the assumption of the rupa-nature, what is the ultimate objective (phala) gained<sup>304</sup> (therefrom)?
- 185. Of<sup>305</sup> what object any contradiction is impossible to exist that object thereby is verily existing.<sup>306</sup> (But, for the opponents) since everything is non-existing their experiences are not really there as in the dream.<sup>307</sup>
- 186. The<sup>308</sup> advocates of the external reality point out to the Idealist (citta-matrata-vadin) thus: Let the men of erudition investigate whether this (my conclusion) is just appropriate or not.
- 187. But<sup>309</sup> I have no wonderful (wise) knowledge suited to investigate what is right and what is wrong; I have however stated in brief the truths propounded by other masters.
- 188. The<sup>310</sup> wise men realize the destruction of ignorance darkness by means of the lustre of their true knowledge. Henceforth let the unlearned get purified in the path of the great men.

NOTES

- 1. This verse may be rendered into Sanskrit:
  परिपूर्य च यः स्वार्थं परार्थं सर्वथाऽ।खलम् ।
  अकरोत्तं प्रणम्यार्थसिद्धयावर्थी निरूप्यते ॥ १ ॥
- 2. In accordance with the tradition the author speaks of the Buddha as possessing two qualities, svartha and parartha as done by Vasubandhu (Kosa, I, ver. 1), Dignaga (Pram. Sam. I. ver. 1. with vrttih. v, my Review in ALB,) and the author of the Sutralankara (=Kalpanamandatika), Chap. I (v. my Sanskrit text, published in the journal of Sri Venkata. Institute, Tirupati, 1941).
- 3. स्वस्थनेतादिविज्ञानविषयार्थो न बाह्यक: । स्वप्निद्धचनद्रधीकल्पो a घात्वादर्थावभासनात् ।। २ ॥ a. lit ज्ञानत्वात्—Jnanatva as Sadhana, reason is referred to in the verse 29 below.
- 4. This is the conclusion arrived at in the Vimsatika and the Alambana-pariksa.
- बाह्यार्थ: साध्यते नेति बुद्धिमालत्ववादिना । अविसंवादरष्ट्रघादावस्तिवादस्तु कथ्यते ॥ ३ ॥
- 6. Dharmakirti's definition of pramana is: प्रमाणमनिसंनादि ज्ञानम्, अर्थितियास्थितिः संनादनम्.....1 Pram. vartika, I, ver, 1. Subhagupta's one of the arguments to prove his externalism is avisamvaditva; cfr. Tatt. San. panjika. p. 574, ll. 20, ff.
- ज्ञानस्य च ।वसंवादात् रूपादीनामयोगतः । आलम्बनं क्वचिन्न स्यात् सभयं तन्न शोभनम् ॥ ४ ॥
- 8. स्वाङ्गच्छेदादयो दृष्टा: स्वप्ने [ये] न भवन्ति ते। यद्यर्थनीतिर्नास्तीति प्रबुद्धस्य तथा a ननु ॥ ५ ॥ a=the word is used to bring out the Tib. expression: mi-gyur-ram implying a simple query.
- 9. कायस्फीतिः शिरश्छेदो वोधे स्वप्नसमा मता। इति चेत् त्वं कुतोह्यल यत्नवान् नष्टलाभयोः ॥ ६ ॥
- 10. The Realists, while opposing the extreme idealism, genrally raises such objection as the present one to prove its absurdity. It may be interesting to Compare a European parallel: Dr.

Johnson is said to have expressed his opinion on Berkeley's philosophy by kicking" a stone with his foot and saying: No, Sir, I prove it wrong (Sir James Jean, Mysterious Universe, the Bridge series, p. 71).

- भ्रान्त्या सर्वे प्रवृतिश्चे त् नास्ति नामविपर्ययः ।
   अभ्रान्तमिवसंवादि ज्ञानं a भ्रान्तं विसंवदेत् ॥ ७ ॥
   a = विसंवादि भ्राम्यति ।
- 12. In the illusion there is always a perversion in naming things; e.g. in rope-snake illusion the snake-name is mistaken for the rope-name.
- 13. देशात् कालादनन्यस्य ज्ञानं यन्न विसंवदेत्। तदभ्रान्तं पुनर्ज्ञानं नान्यदभ्रान्तलक्षणम् ॥ = ॥
- 14. The idea meant here is this: Time and space are not different from the material things, i.e. atcms; cp. Nya. binda-pradipa p.44. नीलमेव हि भासमानं देश: नापरो देश: कश्चिदाभासते। and Pram. va. bhasya. p. 188: न देशो नामापरो रूपादिभ्यः। The Buddhists including the Sarvasti-vadin maintain that every thing is momentary and the moment is no other than the thing itself.
- 15. दीर्घसूक्ष्मादिकज्ञानात् योगीति तु विशेषितः । असर्वज्ञः प्रसज्येत नोभयतोभागमुक्तकः ॥ ९ ॥ विसंवदित बुद्धत्वम् ।
- 16. A partly definition of yogin.
- 17. This is explained in the Puggalapannatti, p. 145: इधेकच्चो पुग्गलो अट्ठ विमोवखे कायेन फुसित्वा विहरति। पञ्जाय चस्स दिस्वा आसवा परिक्खीणा होन्ति। अयं वृच्चित पुग्गलो उभतो भागविमुत्तो। Abh-kosa (Poussin, VI, p. 276); One who is entered in Nirodhasamaptti is named 'doubly delivered', because by force of prajna and Samadhi he is delivered from klesa-avarana and vimoksa-avarana (cp. 8 vimoksas in VIII, p. 205) Satya siddhi, chap. 163 (Eng. Summary) If he gains both, he is ubhayato-bhaga-vimukta; for the defilement is one part and the element hindering dhyana-concentration is another part. (v. also chap. x. end) V. - अनिन्द्रियार्थादिबुद्धिवासनाक्षणिकत्वतः । विपाकाप्तिव्यंविद्धता ह्यक्षार्था दढहेतवः ॥ १२ ॥
- 21. It is difficult to understand the author's intention here. According to Abh. kosa theory of momentariness is applicable to the elements both internal and external. It is the Theravadin who makes a distinction in applying it to the elements and pleads that the material elements continue to exist for 17 thought-moments (v, Abh. Athasan, IV. 86. Kosambi's Tika, p. 67). Despite the momentary-theory the Vaibhasika maintains that karman produces its Truits through avijnapti which continues to exist on the support of four great elements (v. kosa, I. 11). This may not hold good in the Yogacara system.
- 22. यस्य ज्ञानमेकरसिमिन्द्रियार्थान्न जायते । तस्य तस्य स्वभावश्च [2036] किं ध्रुवोऽथवा ॥ १३॥
- 23. Ekarasa-jnana = advaya-jnana of the Yogacara which is dichomotized into subject and object due to premordial force, (anadi-vasana). It is somewhat similar to the Sautrantika's ekarasa-skandha=jnana, v. Masuda, sects p. 68 with note 1.
- 24. निद्रादिसाम्यवत्त्वाच्चेत् तद्विपाककरो न किम्। विद्यमाने a पाकहेतौ न युक्तः पाकसंक्षयः ।। १४॥ a = Jnana-svabhava.
- 25. दृष्टं स्वप्ने निद्रितस्य नोध्वं aमस्ति तृतोऽवध्रुम् सम्भवित यथा तेन परिपकारमनः क्षयः ॥ १४ ॥ a=Tib. de-ma-phyir-mi-brten-shin.

  (तस्य) पुनर्विपाकाण्तिर्योग्या स्याच्च परिक्षयात् ॥ १६॥
  a=Read in Tib. gan.-gi for gan-gis.

- 27. The idea seems to be this: when the Yogacara denies the external things, there will be no occasion for preaching dharma or listening to it and arousing the right view which leads to the destruction of Vipaka. Dharmakirti, however, defends his position thus: केवलं लोकबुढयंव बाह्यचिन्ता प्रवर्तते। Pram, va. ver. 220.
- 28. दृढसं व वादवास्यत्वात् कियते च कुतो मतम् । रूपादीनामयोग्यत्वादिति चेत् वाच्यमुत्तरम् b ॥ १७ ॥ व = दृढाविसंवाद वासनया । b = See the verse 29.
- 29. परिपाकाश्रयतयाऽविसंवादः प्रबोधने । तिमिरमाश्रयो यावत्तावन्ना αसंवादः कुतो न च ॥ १०॥ a — नासंवाद-अविसंवादः
- 30. The knowledge of the eye-diseased person (taimirika) is, however, contradicted at once.
- 31. तद्बुद्धचा तु प्रवृत्तेश्च भ्रान्तालम्बनतोऽन्तरा। तद्बुद्धचसत्त्वेऽविसंवादात न तद्बुद्धकृतिमिष्यते ॥ १६॥
- 31a. cp. Nya, bindu-Tippani, p. 19: सर्बमालम्बने। म्रान्त मुक्त्वा ताथागत-ज्ञानम्। Every perceptual knowledge is illusive so far as its object is concerned.
- 32. आरोपपरिपाकस्य शक्ते र्वस्त्वन्तरोद्भवात् । स्वात्मतो जायते नैव कुसुमाच तिलं यथा ॥२०॥
- 33. This Sakti, according to the Idealist comes into existence from the self of consciousness and not from some other exterrnal causes.
- 34. अबादिभ्यो यथा a बीजं यज्ञातं यत एव च। समानं तच्च तेनेव फलोत्पत्तेश्च वासना ॥ २१॥ नारोप्या धूमतेजोवत् a = जायते is to be added from the previous sentence.

35. This is probably anadikalika-vasana accepted by the Idealists to account for the universal causation cfr, Madh. avatara, VI, ver. 46 with Bhasya, my sanskrit text, p. 42-43; Bud. Logic II, p. 367 with note 3 and p. 400 Jinendrabudhi's comment: Every notion of causation is produced by Biotic Force; and Alambanapariksa, ver. 8.

- 36. वस्त्वन्तरोद्भवात् किञ्चित् कर्मणां वास्यते यथा । जातीपुष्पेश्च संसृष्ट्या गन्ध उत्पद्यते तिले ॥ २२ ॥
- 37. Jati flower as a factor in producing fragrance is a common example in Indian Sastraic literature, cp. Kosavy. II p.39. 22
- तलोपादानविज्ञानाज्ञायते ज्ञानसप्तकम् ।

- अतो भावान्तराज्ञातो मावो नास्तीति वासना ।
   नारोप्य वर्धनायोग्या इत्याह शाक्तविज्ञनः ॥ २४ ॥
- 40. Here Sakti-vadin is the Sautrantika. According to him seven kinds of consciousness (five sensuous, one non-sensuous consciousness and one mind) are produced from their upadana consciousness, a subtle mind in possession of all seeds, something resembling the Alaya-consciousness of the yogacarin. The sautrantika contradicts the vasana theory postulated by the latter on the assumption that nothing is produced from anything but the mind = Alaya-consciousness, or the Sautrantika's subtle mind, v. Et. Lamotte, Histoire du Buddhisme, p. 673; and Masuda, Sects p. 68. The kosa speaks of the seven types of vijnana in this line: पविद्वानान्यथी मनः/ (I, 16).

We may note here a parallel discussion between the and the Sautrantika as reproduced by Stcherbatsky from Vacaspati's Nyayakanika: (The Yogacara:) (The external object is superfluous, there is in the internal) Biotic force which accidently becomes mature and evokes an idea; this is also accidental (and changing concomitantly with a change its cause). (The Sautrantika:) But, is it not your Biotic force in this case simply the force of the subject thought contained in one continuous stream, the force to produce out of itself, a corresponding the objective thought, Bud. Logic, II. p. 367-68). interesting reference to the Sautrantika may be noticed here: सौतान्तिकनयेन त्विवरोध पव। यरमादस्य संस्कारपरिभविताः षिवङ्ज्ञान कायाः संस्कारप्रत्ययं विज्ञानिमष्टं न प्रतिसन्धिविज्ञानमेवेति। Arthaviniscaya Sutratika. The idea probably meant here that the six consciousness-bodies are conditioned by Samskara, a subtle Sakti formed from the experience of external things; cp. the ver. 27 below the same idea.

- 53. According to the Yogacara every human knowledge is illusive with reference to its object (v. note 31a above). The author asserts that knowledge can be illusive if it is vitiated in a later stage.
- 54. अन्ये सर्वेञ्च विज्ञानमर्थधीर्मानसो भ्रमः । ज्ञेयं स्वचित्तजातं यत् रूपं वा नास्ति तस्य च ॥ ३२॥

  This verse is made of 5 lines, the next four lines being traced to the original Sanskrit. The implied hetu is ekaika-apariccheda.
- तल्यापरक्षणोत्पाद्यथानित्यत्वविभ्रमः । 59. अविच्छिन्नसजातीयग्रहे स्यान्नीलविभ्रमः ॥ ३५ ॥ Tatt. san. p. 552 cites this verse with the reading स्थलविभ्रम for नाल—. The Panjika further quotes his comments thus: सह्याह-यथा सहशापरापरक्षणोत्पादाद्विप्रलब्धस्य गृहीतेऽपि प्रत्यक्षेण शब्दादौ परमाणुनामविच्छिन्नदेशानां सजातीयानां स्थल नित्यत्वविभ्रमः। तथा मानसो विभ्रमो भवति । (Cp. p. 199 and ver. 589). It is interesting to note the difference in readings. Kamalasila thinks that nila is empirically real from the Sautrantika standpoint of view but sthula is unreal. Subhagupta, on the other hand, thinks that sthula is a real substance rather than nila, a quality, derivative element. The idea may be clear if we look into the discussion in Kosa, IV, 8—12 on Samsthana.
- 60. बुद्धया सदा त्विबिच्छिन्नसाजात्यग्रहणे सित । विकल्पकेन ज्ञानेन हेचकत्वमवसीयते ॥ ३६ ॥
- 61. The idea of oneness as illusive is explained in Tatt. san. ver. 598-9. Similarly the idea of grossness as illusive in ver. 592-4 (Ibid). This latter position is of the Sautrantika.
- 62. अतः स्वलक्षणत्वेन विज्ञाने परमाणवः । आभासन्ते नेति वादो यः सर्वो न स सिध्यति ॥ ३७ ॥

- 67. The author thinks that Sancita atoms are dravya, substance since they discharge a uniform function. The same opinion in his Anyapoha-vicara, ver. 2. The logical school of Dignaga following the Sautrantika standpoint defines dravya as one capable of discharging a perposive action: artha-kriva-ksamam vastu-taksanam. v. Tatt, pan. p. 730, (18; Nya. bindu Tika p. 76-7.) cp. pram. var. III, ver. 195: अर्थान्तरामिसम्बन्धात् अयते योऽणवोऽपरे। उक्तास्ते सिश्चतास्ते हि निमित्तं ज्ञानजन्मनः ॥

  It may be noted here that the opinion of Sancita:-anu as the object of consciousness is atributted to the Neo-
- Sarvastevadin, (Sanghabhadra) by Kuei. chi. v. my forthcoming edition of the Alam. par.
- 68. एकशब्दाभिधेयास्ते न तेषामेकतास्ति तु । विचार्यमाणः शब्दार्थो न भातीन्द्रियचेतसि ॥ ४०॥
- 69. The same idea in the author's Anyapoha-vicara, ver. 7. cp. Tatt. san. ver. 870.

71. This very instance compells the Yogacara to declare that the images that are reflected in our consciousness are all false (alika) v. Tatt. pan. ad ver. 2037: ज्ञानादव्यतिरिक्तत्वाञ्चाकारबहुता भवेत्। ततश्च तद्वलेनास्ति नाथंसंवेदनस्थिति:। आकाराव्यातिरक्तत्वात् ज्ञाने वा अनेकता भवेत्। अन्यथा कथमेकत्वमनयोः परिकल्प्यते। चिल्लास्तरणदर्शने एकस्मात् ज्ञानादव्यतिरिक्तत्वात् ज्ञानस्य रूपवदाकाराणां बहुता न प्राप्नोति। एवमाकाराव्यतिरिक्तत्वात् ज्ञानस्याप्यनेकता प्राप्नोति। p. 571, cp. p. 181, ver. 536. साकारे ननु विज्ञाने....। A thorough examination of this topic from the Yogacara standpoint has been made by Ratna-kirti in hi: Citra-advaita-prakasa-vada (v. Ratna-kirtinibandha, K. P. J. Institute. Patna, 1957.

Dharmakirti from the standpoint of his logic offers this explanation: Our practical experiences dictate that several non-sensuous consciousnesses can arise simultaneously; v. Pram. var. नानार्थिका भवेत् तस्मात् सिद्धाऽतोविकल्पिका। विकल्प-यन्नप्येकार्थं यतोऽन्यद्दिष पश्यति। cp. vers; Ibid, 197-201; Tatt. san. ver. 1253; अतः सर्वल विषये न कमग्रहणं भवेत्। सकृद्ग्रहण-भासस्तु भवेत् शब्दादिबोधवत्। etc.

Another explanation is offered in the following lines: यत् यथा भासते ज्ञानं तत् तथैवानुभूयते । इति नामैकभावः स्यात् चिलाकारस्य चेतसः ॥ Pram. var. III, 222. Bhasya: तस्मात ग्राह्यहकनीलाग्रा-द्याकारा चिला बुद्धिरेकैवेति चिलाद्वैतमेव । p. 290.

Dharmakirti further argues as another solution that several things can produce simultaneously one cognition: को वा विरोधो बह्वः सिञ्चतातिक्षयाः सकृत्। भवेयुः कारणं बुद्धे येदि नात्मेन्द्रियादि वत्॥ Ibid. 224. Bhasya: यथेन्द्रियार्थमनस्कारा आत्मेन्द्रियार्थसिन्नकर्षा वा सकृदेकमिन्द्रियविज्ञानं जनयन्ति। तथा परमाणवोऽपिं। को विरोधः। p. 296. Kosa (IV. 10) also refers to the citrastarana problem. v. - 75. Atoms appear and disappear together: सहोत्पद्यन्तो सह विरूध्यन्ते ।
  This is what the Sarvastivadi-Vaibhasikas conclude. It is further made clear in the next verse, cp. kosa, I. p. 35, ll. 18-20, and Vis. Mag: गन्धा रसो फरसो चतस्सो चेव धातवो । अद्वे ते अविणिभ्भागा एक्प्पादा सहव्यया ॥

- 80. The same idea in the ver. 8 above, cp. note 14.
- 81. एकोऽणुरवरे भागे स्थितोऽन्यः परभागतः । उभाभ्यामपि भागाभ्यां प्रसक्ता न द्विवाऽणवः ॥ ४७ ॥ cp. Vimsa, bhasya: अन्यो हि परमाणोः पूर्वदिग्भागो यावदघोदिग्भाग इति दिग्भागभेदे सति कथं तदात्मकस्य परमाणोरेकत्वं योक्ष्यते । The present verse answers this objection.

- 82. अनेकमध्यर्वित्वादनेकत्वं विकल्प्यते। व्यतिरेकमुखादेवमनेकत्वं प्रकल्प्यते।। ४५॥

  The idea of this verse is also included in the prose passage above cited in n. -79. व्यतिरेक = एकत्वव्यावृत्ति. This explanation suggests idea of manifoldness on the atom is imaginary as the idea of the oneness on the aggregate.
- 83. तलापेक्ष्यान्यदयच्च रूपं वै गृह्यते यथा। नैव तद्विद्याते तल परावरादिभेदवत् ॥ ४६॥
- 84. The explanation is made here of how an invisible atomic form becomes a visible gross form.
- 85. नैरन्तर्याद्वहूनाञ्चावयवित्वं यदीष्यते । निरन्तराः पूर्वपरक्षणा न तादशाः कथम् ॥ ५० ॥
- 86. If the latter proposition is acceptable, the former one also will be so.
- 87. ज्ञानस्य द्विक्षणस्थत्वान्तैरन्तर्यं ततोऽस्ति च । यथा त्ववयविरूपं नेष्यते वै तथाणुषु ॥ ५१ ॥
- 88. The advocate of knowledge of two and more moments, duration is probably the Naiyayika. The Theravadin pleads that it exists for three moments, v, Abh. San. IV.
- 89. Atoms, though existing in an uninterrupted series are not conceived as one avayavin on the analogy of knowledge.
- 90. प्रत्त्यासत्त्या कयाचित्तु गतिबाधो गतीमतः। तथैवाच्छादन प्रोक्तमवयवान्तरतो न तु ॥ ५२ ॥
- 91. This is in reply to Vasubandhu's criticism: सान्तरत्वे गतिमतां गतिः केन प्रतिषिध्यते। Kosabhasya, I. 43. This answer implies that the author is a Santara-paramanu-vadin.
- 92. आच्छादने सति चिछाया समुत्पन्ना च विद्यते । छाया दिनकराण्वोश्च मध्यलग्ना न युज्यते ॥ ५३ ॥
- 93. This answers Vasubandhu's query : छायावृती कथं वा Vimsa. 14.
- 94. छायाच्छादनयोः शक्ति बहूनां जायते यथा। परमाणुष्वपि तथा नैकस्मात् सर्वथाऽपि तु ॥ ५४॥

- 95. अतो भेदस्य नास्तित्वात् पिण्डो नास्तीति यद्वचः। कादाचित्कं भवेत्तच्चेत् aपरिणामो न युज्यते ॥ ४५॥ a=parinama= hgyur. ba.

- 97. अन्योन्यमात्माऽसंसृष्ठा अनंशाश्च व्यवस्थिताः । अतः सञ्चित्य भवति पृथिवीमण्डलादिकम् ॥ ५६ ॥
- 98. This makes clear that the author holds the opinion that atoms do not contact with one another. Read in Tib. reg. pa for rig. pa.

- 101. अन्येऽस्पर्शक्तिबलकाः ; बुद्धिमानचलादिगः । संख्यादिप्रविशेषेण कल्पयेन्नरकाद्यणून् ॥ ५९ ॥
- 102. It appears that there are millions of atoms having no capacity strong enough to come into combination and to form any visible object.
- 103. The Yogin can count the number of atoms even of the hell, etc. remote objects. The expression: acaladigah is again used later in ver. 64 below.
- 104. अतो नास्तीति नो युक्तम् ; उक्तं भ्रान्तिवशाद्यदि । षष्ठधीमात्रताबो घः a यशाष्ट्रपरमाणुषु ।। ६० ॥ संख्यादि भ्रान्तिरूटपन्ना ; a—भ्रान्तिवशात् इति शेषः ।
- 105. The idea may be amplified thus: If my apprehension of atoms by outer senses is illusive, your understanding of the mind alone with eqully be illusave. Here the author's reference to the mind as the sixth sense is suggestive of the fact that the mind understands always what is apprehended by the outer senses. Cp. the Saying; द्वाभ्यां भिक्षवो रूपं गृह्यते चक्षुविज्ञानेन तदाकृष्ठेन मनसा च । cited in Nya-Tippani, p. 26.

  a=lit. विज्ञान b = अन्यल will be a better reading.
- 107. The Yogacara conceives the mind as the basis of illusion of the whole universe; thus the mind is a real entity while the objective universe is illusory.
- 108. The Yogacara's conception of the hell is well explained in the Vimsa-bhasya ad. 4. Read my English translation of the treatise and a bilingual edition of the textes with notes from Vinitadeva's comments (Institute of Tibetology, Gangtok, 1964).
- 109. The author thinks; As you (opponents) declare the atoms, etc. as illusory, why do you not say likewise of the Pradhana and Purusa as illusory?
- 110. तदवस्था च संप्राप्ता गुणातिशयसम्मतेः । भान्त्या विकल्पितत्वेऽपि न त्याज्या पूर्वकल्पना । ६३ ।।
- 111. अणुश्च तस्मादस्त्येव अचलादिगधीमतः । ततोऽन्येनागृहीतः ते जांनन्तीति कल्प्यते॥ ६४॥
- 112. The same expression previously in ver. 59. n. 103.
- 113. सहोपलम्भनियम उक्तो यत्पुरुषद्वये । ज्ञानज्ञेयस्वभावश्च नियमात् सह वेद्यते ॥ ६४ ॥
- 114. T. Panji. explains Jnana-Jneya-svabhava thus: विषयविषयिभावेन नियतत्वादन्यथापि सहोपलम्भनियम सम्भवत्येव । यतो ज्ञानस्य ग्राहक एव स्वभावः विषयग्रहणधर्मकत्वात्तस्य, विषयस्यापि तद्ग्राहच एव स्वभावः । तयो-श्रक्षसामग्रचधीनत्वात् नित्यं सहभाविता । न च सहोत्पावाविशेषेऽपि चक्षुरादीनांद विषयत्वप्रसङ्गः तथाविधस्वभावाभावात् । तथा हि सामग्रं या नीलादिविषयाध्यवसाय-रूपमेव ज्ञानं जन्यते न चक्षुराद्यध्यवसायरूपम् । नीलादिरपि तु तदध्यवसीयमानरूपो जनितो न चक्षुरादिरिति । आह च नान्योऽस्ति ग्राहको ः । p. 569.
- 115. नान्योऽस्ति ग्राहको ज्ञानात् चाक्षुषै विषयैविना । अतश्च सहसंवित्तिर्नाभेदान्नीलतिद्धयोः ॥ ६६ ॥ This is cited in T. Panji. v. note. 114. end.

- 116. वग्राहकञ्चेन्न बिज्ञानं ज्ञानं वा विषयंविना । तदा तत्तु तथा वक्तां युज्यते नान्यथा पुनः ॥ ६७॥ व=lit. अग्राहक.
- 117. What is implied in the previous verse is made clear here, viz. in the absence of either of the two. knowledge or the object no cognition flashes out and that is the reason why they are felt simultaneously.
- 118. एककालिविवक्षातः सम्बुद्धज्ञानचेतसा । जित्तचैत्तंश्च हेर्तुर्द्ध सर्वथैकान्तिको न च ॥६०॥
  This verse is cited in T. Panji (p. 568, 1, 4) in prose: अथ सहशब्द एककालिविवक्षया तदा बुद्धविज्ञेयचित्ते ने चित्तचैत्तंश्च सर्वथा अनैकान्तिकता हेतोः। यथा किल बुद्धस्य भगवतो यद्विज्ञेयं सन्तानान्तरिचत्तं तस्य बुद्धज्ञानस्य च सद्दोपलम्भनियमेऽपि अस्त्येव नानात्वम्। तथा चित्तचैत्तानां सत्यिप सद्दोपलम्भे नैकत्विमित्यतोऽनैकान्तिको हेतरिति ।
- 119. आगमेभ्यश्च सिद्धत्वात् चैत्तानां भ्रान्तिता न चेत्। पिशाचनरकादीनां ज्ञानं उक्तः कृतो भ्रमः॥ ६९॥
- 120. The author probably intends to say thus: The ghost, the hell, etc. are equally spoken off in the scripture, why do you say that our knowledge of these things is an illusion?
- 121. असत्यिप सम्बन्धे विशेष इष्टक्वद्यदि । तमसिद्धमनिच्छंश्च परीहरसि विश्रमात् ॥ ७० ॥
- 122. सहराब्दश्च लोकेऽस्मिन् नैवान्येन विना कचित् । विरुद्धोऽयं ततो द्देतुर्यद्यस्ति सहबेदनम् ॥ ७१ ॥ Kamalasila introducing this verse remarks: तल भदन्तशुभगुप्तस्त्वाह-विरुद्धोऽयं हेतुः यस्मात्-सहराब्दश्च । This objection is also noticed by Dharmapala in his comment an Alam. par.
- 133. एकार्थः सहशब्दश्रेदन्यतोऽसिद्धता तदा । कथं साधारणे भाव एकेनैव च दर्शनम् ॥ ७२ ॥
- 124 T Panji. refers to this idea of oneness and its implications thus: पुनः स एवाह यदि सहशब्द एकार्थः तदा हेतुरसिद्धः। तथाहि नटचन्द्रभस्रप्रेक्षासु नहचेकेनैवोपलमभो नीलादेः। नापि नीलतदुपलम्भयोरेकेनैवोपलम्भः। तथाहि नीलोपलम्भेऽपि तदुपलम्भानामन्यसन्तानगतानामनुपलम्भात्। यदा च सत्त्वं (sic) प्राणभृतां सर्वे चित्तक्षणाः सर्वज्ञेनावसीयन्ते। तदा कथमेकेनैवोलम्भः सिद्धः स्यात्। किञ्चान्योपलम्भनिषेधे सित एकोपलम्भनियमः सिध्यति। न चान्योपलम्भतिषेध-सम्भवः। स्वभाववित्रकृष्ठस्य विधित्रतिषेधायोगात्।

125. सर्वज्ञज्ञानबेदाश्च सर्वं चित्तं भवेद्यदि।
एकेनैवोपलभ्भश्च तदोक्तः कुत्न सिध्यति ॥ ७३ ॥
The idea expressed in this verse is well state in T. Panji passage cited in the previous note.

126. आलम्बननिषेधोऽन्यैः प्रमाभावान्न सिध्यति । स्वभावविष्रकृष्ठस्य सिन्दिग्धासिद्धता ततः ॥ ७४॥
The idea of this verse has been summed up in T. Panji. passage cited in the note 124.

127. बाह्याभावतः सिद्धौ स्वैकभागे विलोकिते । वदतश्चित्तमात्र तत्प्रसिद्धो हेतुरेव हि ॥७५॥

- 128. Thus the reason becomes anyatara-asiddha.
- 129. अपृथग्भाससंसिद्धौ [206 a] भवेत्सिद्धस्य साध्यता । साकारज्ञानकथिनो विवादस्तल नो भवेत् ॥ ७६ ॥
- 130. For the advocate of sakara jnana, the image is a part of the knowledge. To prove it is useless.
- 131. एक एव पदार्थश्चे दालम्बनं प्रकल्प्यते । ज्ञानरूपाद्विवेकेन कथं संवेद्यमेव तत् ॥ ७७ ॥
- 132. अर्थालम्भे a कृष्णशङ्के b तुष्ट्स्य c वेदनाश्च ताः। यदि ज्ञानस्वरूपस्य; विना वित्ति न सम्भवेत् ॥ ७= ॥ a=अर्थोपसन्धौ. b. No case-ending in Tib. c. dgah. bai.
- 133. The author appears to mean this: If the experience of the black shell consist, in the nature of knowledge alone, the knowledge should then be experienced as black. Since the black colour canot be attributed to the knowledge, there ought to be something black material other than the knowledge. The classical example is: pitah sankhah. This example of bhrama jnana seems to be purposely employed in order to point out that there are two aspects of the object, viz, black and the shell which cannot be accommodated in the only knowledge.

134. यदि रूपं कल्पितञ्ज किञ्जिदेव हि वेद्यते । न वेद्यते ज्ञानरूपमित्यतस्तन्न युज्यते ॥ ७६ ॥

135. तेन रूपद्वयं वेद्यं चन्द्रमायुगलं यथा । शास्त्रकर्तुरेकमिति प्रसिद्धंतन्न युज्यते॥ ५०॥

- 136. I.e. One imaginary form and the other real. Similar objection in T. panji. p. 574, ver. 2051. cp. my paper on Bud. Idealism. Tirupati Institute, Journal, I, pt. 3. p. 83.
- 137. पूर्विकैव तु सामग्री प्रज्ञानं विषयक्षणम् । सालोकरुपवत् कुर्यात् येन स्यात् सहवेदनम् ॥ ५१॥
  This verse is cited in T. panji. p. 569, ll. 16-17 along with the verse; नान्योऽस्ति.....1-v. n. 114.
- 138. Samagri. according to early Buddhist includes three factors: (1) visaya (2) indriya, and (3) vijn^ana, manas and it gives rise to a sensation, sparsa, which is followed by feeling, vedana, and then image, samina, v. Bud. logic. II, p. 311, Table, Cp. Kosa, III, p. 63, 23.
- 139. Here the term saha is in the sense of immediate succession: cfr. the next verse,
- 140. पूर्वापरं यदा ज्ञानिमिन्द्रियञ्च प्रवर्तते । तत्सादृश्येन तन्नाम नार्थतः सहवेदनम् ॥ ६२ ॥
- 141. वेद्यत्वादेव विज्ञानान्नान्योऽर्थो, ग्राह्मभागकम् । ज्ञानं सिध्यति यो वादस्तल हेतोरनिश्रयः ॥ ६३॥
- 142. That is, the reason is doubtful, (v. ver. 74 above.) Sandigdha-asiddha.
- 143, ज्ञानिवत्तः स्वभावत्वात् वैद्यते चेति कथ्यते । विषयाभासिविज्ञानजनकत्वाच वेदनम् ॥ ५४॥
- 144. The idea is made clear in T. Panji, p, 570, l, 18. ff.
  निह मुख्यतो यादशं ज्ञानस्यात्मसंवेदनं तादृशमेवार्थस्येष्ठम् ।
  किं तिहंं । स्वाभासज्ञानजनकत्वमेवास्य संवेद्यत्वम् । The author probably means this mukhyato vedyatva by the expression jnana-vitteh svabhavatvat. It does not however follow from it that the author means that the knowledge knows itself. According to the Vaibhasika knowledge knows its preceding moment and hence there is no jnana-sva-vitti.
- 145. संवेद्यशब्दसाम्येऽपि तदर्थः पृथगेव हि । गवादीनां यथा गोत्त्वात्तथाकारो न सिध्यति a ॥ ५४॥ a lit. असिद्धेः
- 145a. The idea of this verse is also referred to in T. Panji. p. 570. 1. 20, ff:

ततश्च यदि मुख्यं संवेदनं हेतुत्वेनोपादीयते । तदा हेतोरसिद्धता । अथापि यथाकथिश्चित् संवेदनशब्दवाच्यतासाम्यात् । तथापि न तथाविधादिष्टसिद्धिः । निहं गोशब्दसाम्यात् गवयादीनां विषाणित्वसिद्धिः । Mukhya samvedana above referred to is also implied in the following passage: यदेवात्मसंवेदनं ज्ञानस्य तदेवार्थस्येति परेणापि बाह्यर्थवादिनाऽङ्गीकृतम् । (T. Panji. p. 568, l. 12) The Bahyarthavadin of this passage is probably, the Vaibhasika (?)

- 146. सर्वज्ञज्ञानसंवेद्यसन्तानान्तरभाविताः । धर्मा येऽनैकान्तिकास्तैः सर्वज्ञोऽबोधकः कथम् ॥ ५६ ॥
- 146a. This defect of anaikantika is explained in T. Panji. v. note on ver, 68.
- 146b. cp. T. Panji. p. 573, l. 15 ff. making this same prasanga in a different context.
- 147. साकारज्ञानपक्षे च तिन्नर्भासस्य वेद्यता ।
  तस्याभेदे च संसाध्ये सिद्धसाधनता भवेत् ॥ ६७ ॥
  This verse is cited in T. panji p. 570, ll 20-4 with this introductory remark: अथ ज्ञानारूढं नीलाद्याकारं धर्मिणमाश्रित्य साकारज्ञानपक्षे विविधोऽपि हेतुरभिन्नेतः । तदा सिद्धसाधनता । यथोक्तम्—। The Sakara—
  Jnana-vadin is the Sautrantika.
- 148. रूपसाम्यकरोऽर्थस्तु aफलात्संवेद्यसम्मतः।
  भावस्य तस्यावेद्यत्वात् अभेदो न भविष्यति॥ इद्या

  a=उपचारात्, Its samvedana is gauna. The idea is well explained in the passage quoted in note 145. This is the tandpoint of the Sautrantika also. He is therefore called Bahyarthanumanavadin v. my paper: Bud. Idealism. ob. cit. p. 78; Tsan. p. 402, ver. प्रतिबिम्बस्य तादूष्याद्भाक्तं स्यादिष वेदनम्।
- 149. कथं तद्ग्राहकं तच्चेत् [206b] तत्परिच्छेवलक्षणम् । विज्ञानं तेन नाशङ्का कथं तत् किं विदिति ॥ ६ ॥

  Т. Panji. (p. 561, l. 11 f) cites this verse with this remark: भदन्त- शुभगुप्तस्त्वाह: विज्ञानमनापन्न विषयाकारमपि विषयं प्रतिपद्यते । तत्परिच्छेद-रूपत्वात् । तस्मान्नाशङ्का कर्तव्या कथं परिच्छिनत्ति । किंवत् परिच्छिनत्तीति । आह च—1 Definition of pariccheda, v. ver. 92. below.—
- 150. विज्ञानरूपमन्येन व्यवस्थाप्य समो a ह्यते । कथं वाच्यं तदर्थस्य संपरिच्छेदकन्तिति ॥ ६० ॥ a=समारोप्यते ।

- 151. This is probably the author's criticism of the sarupya theory of the Sautrantika-Yogacaras.
- 152. अर्थपरिच्छित्तिमालञ्ज विज्ञानिमध्यते यदा । कथं स्वविषयं ज्ञानं वेत्तीत्युक्तिरसङ्गता ॥ ९१ ॥
- 153.
- 154. विज्ञानं तत्काराकं न निष्क्रियं परमार्थतः । वित्तिमात्रे कारकत्वं समारोज्य हि कथ्यते ॥ ९२ ॥
- 155. Thus the above stated pariccheda of the ver. 89 is simply vittimatra.
- 156. भनासङ्गेन दर्शी च विद्वान् संविशते यथा। किश्चिद्दर्शी तथा ज्ञा a नरूपादौ विशते पुनः ॥ ९३॥ a = ses. pa. gzugs = knowledge-form,
- 157. सर्वज्ञस्य तदन्येषां न भेदो ज्ञानमानतः। सर्वाकारिधया सर्वे महात्मानो विशेषिता ॥ ९४ ॥
- 158. This is very important to note that the author denies an apparent distinction between the Saint and the ordinary man in respect of their grasping the external things. The Saint has an additional virtue of penetrating into different aspects of things; sarvakara-jnana is one of the qualities attributed to the Buddha, v. kosa, IX. ver. 1.
- 159. साकारं वा निराकारं तुल्यकालमतुल्यजम्।

  इसि बौद्धेऽपि विज्ञाने किंनु चिन्ता^ प्रवर्तते ॥ ९४ ॥

  cited in the T. Panji. p. 573, l. 7 with the explanation:

  था साकारादिविज्ञानेन नार्थस्य ग्रहणं युक्तम् इति चिन्ता कियते । तथा भगवतोऽपि

  ानेनार्थस्य ग्रहणं प्रति किं न कियते ।

  a Read bsam. pa for byis. pa.
- 160. Sakara vadin is the Sautrantika, and nirakara-vadin Vaibhasika. The Yogacara is tulya-kala-vadin and the Vaibhasika and Satyasiddhi are atulya-kala-vadin=Krama-vadin. Similarly Vasubandhu, a follower of the Sautrantika school pleads for atulya-kala-vedana, a Successive comprehension even of omniscient Buddha thus:

सन्तानेन समर्थत्वात् यथाग्निः सर्वभुङमतः । तथा सर्वविदेष्टव्यो न सकृत्सर्ववेदनात् ॥ Kosa. IX. 1.

- 161. आकारस्तव यस्तल सम्भवत्येव तद्धियः। आकारः स च रूपादौ पुनस्तल प्रकल्प्यते॥ ९६॥
- 162. We experience different things in different shapes. some long, some short, some square and so on. These shapes according to the Vaibhasikas are external and real belonging to the coagulated atoms. The Sautrantika and Dignaga school on the other hand, hold that they are internal and unreal as they are merely our mind's construction.
- 163. त्यक्तावृतित्वात् युक्तिश्च ज्ञेये नेति न सङ्गितिः ।
  कथं स ज्ञेयमारूढस्तत्सम व मति दिश्यते ॥ ९७ ॥
  a = lit. तन्मालसम ।
- 164. The Mahayanists think that the yogin, having removed the two kinds of obscuration, klesa and jneya-avarana would not have any idea of external things, The author redicules this point, cp. T. Panji. p. 574 ad. ver. 2048.
- 165. निरूपणात्मिका बुद्धिः सत्यथ वाष्यसत्याप ।

  aअर्थास्तित्वेऽविसंवादः,

  a = lit. अर्थोऽस्ति यन्त्रविसंवादः।
  - 165a. The avisamvada argument has already been stated in ver. 3. v. also ver. 185. Here we may note the passage cited in T. Panji. 574, Il. 20, ff: अन भद-तशुभगुप्तः प्रमाणयित-यो ज्ञानाकारः स संवादित्वे सित तथाविधापरपदार्थजनितः तद्यथा ग्राहक आकारः, ज्ञानाकारश्रायमिवलुप्तेन्द्रियस्य नीलादिप्रतिभासिवशेषः संवादीति स्वाभावहेतुः। This prose passage may be from his lost commentary on the katikas.
  - 166. तिमिरादौ विनार्थकम् ॥ १८॥ प्रेक्षितस्त्र यथा रूपं व नीलानुभव इत्यपि । अरोप्य कथ्यते बुद्धावाकारः कोऽपि नास्ति च ॥ ९९॥ व = नीलाकारानुभवः ।
  - 167. अस्ति नास्तीति कल्पोऽपि विज्ञानं कल्पनात्मकम् ( अथिपेक्षाविशेषेण विज्ञानं भिन्नमुच्यते ॥ १०० ॥
  - 168. The author probably means to say what constitutes distinction of one knowledge from another in his theory of imageless knowledge.

- 169. यथा हि भवतां ज्ञानं निराकारश्च तत्त्वतः। वेत्ति चाभूतमाकारं भूतमर्थं तथैव नः ॥ १०१ ॥
  This verse is cited in T. san. p. 572.
- 170. For the Yogacara the true knowledge is non-dual, advaya as stated in the next verse and imageless, cfr. T. Panji. p. 182: तदेतदस्माकमपि निराकारविज्ञानवादिनां बौद्धानामुत्तरं भिष्यित The images are imputed by anadi-vasana or saktis formed out of knowledges produced by the sensuous object for the Sautrantika v. ver. 27. above.
- 171. आत्मा a ज्ञानस्य नास्त्यस्य विरोधादद्वयात्मनः । अभूतं वेद्यते नव प्रसज्येता भ्रान्तमेव तत् ॥ १०२॥ a = 1 In the sense of a separate image, prthak akara.
- 172. a यथापरीक्षितं भ्रान्त्या व्यवस्थेयं कृतेति चेत् । [207a] भ्रान्ताकारोऽवसेयश्च कथं स्यात् कल्पितो नचेत्।। १०३॥ a or वितर्कितम्।
- 173. This is exactly what the Yogacara says; this is accepted by the author himself, note वेत्ति चाभूतमाकारम् in the ver. 101. The author, has, however, stated it as kalpita by way of prasanga.
- 174. भूततस्तेन विज्ञानं निराकारञ्ज a चक्षुषा। भौतिकेन परिच्छिन्द्यात् सद्घाऽसद्घाऽपि योग्यकम् ॥ १०४॥ a = lit. चक्षुरादिना।
- 175. This is the basic conclusion of the author. The sense-organs, for the Vaibhasika, are derivative material elements; but, for the Yogacara they are some forms of Sakti. v. Alambanap. ver. 7. with Vinitadeva's tika. cp. Satyasiddhi, chap, 45. they are nominal. Pariccheda is explained in ver. 89-92 above, Yogya=an object that falls within the range of senses and not a remote one.
- 176. प्रदीपः स्वपरात्मानौ सम्प्रकाशयते यथा । विज्ञानं ढिविधालम्बस्वरूपञ्च तथा यदि ॥ १०५ ॥ विरोधः कोऽपि नैवास्ति ।
  - This verse is made of 5 lines in order to complete the sense.
- 177. The lamp-example is cited by the Sautrantika-Yogacaras in favour of their theory of svasamvedana which is criticised in Mad. karika, VII, 8 and Madh. avatara, my Sanskrit text,

- p. 60: अन कश्चित् सौतान्तिकपक्षमम्युपगम्य। It seems that the early Sautrantika, i e. Darstantika does not accept the theory of svasamvedana, cfr, Kosa, IX, p. 231, n. 4; Vyakhya, p. 698, 2-3; Satya-Siddhi, chap. 68,71,72. The Vaibhasika maintains that one knowledge cognizes its preceding one, (cfr. ver. 84. n. 144, cp, ver. 90, 144 and 147. also) In case of not accepting svasamvedana, how the memory is possible is explained in Bodhi-avatara IX ver. 246, my Epitom. p. 39, ALB. 1953.
- 178. This implies that the simultaneous grasping two and more colours, e.g. is possible. Therefore the cognition of several colours in the case of citrastarana is quite permissible, v. T. Panji. p. 571: ये तु मन्यन्ते समानजातीयान्याकारसंख्यान्येव बहूनि चिल्लास्तरणादिषु युगपत्सम्भवन्त्येव विजातीयरूपशब्दादिज्ञानवदिति । ततश्च प्रसङ्गे सिद्धसाध्यतेति । तेषां चिलास्तरणे नीलादयो बहुव आकाराः संवेद्यन्ते । प्रवमेकाकारेऽपि सितादावर्वाग्मध्यप्रमागरूपा बहुव आकारा इति तदात्मकं तलापि ज्ञानमनेकात्मकं प्राप्नोति । इध्यत एव ति चेत् .....। Kamalasila probably means some Sautrantika author who pleads that several images are simultaneously experienced in the case of citrastarana. But Subhagupta may not agree with this opinion, as a sensuous knowledge, according to him can comprehend several homogeneous objects at once.

- 180, cp. M. I. 295; S. V. 218, cited in kosa IX, 242; Satyasiddhi, chap. 35. The different kinds of objects, such as colour, sound, etc. cannot be simultaneously cognized by their respective sense-organ-ssays the Vaibhasika. The Yogacara on the other hand, thinks that simultaneity of different nonconstructive consciousnesses is possible as T. san, says;

नर्तकीदृष्ट्यवस्थादाविखलं वेद्यते सकृत्।

शुद्धे च मानसे कल्पे व्यवसीयेत न ऋमः।

अतः सर्वत विषये न क्रमग्रहणं भवेत्।

सकृदग्रहणभासस्तु भवेच्छब्दादिबोधवत् । (1250-53)

The same in Pram. var. III, 136-37.

- 183. Here and onwards the author criticises the opinion of some Sautrantika masters who hold that our consciousness while grasping an external thing, moulds itself into an image similar to that of the external thing and that this moulding is effected in just immediately next moment after the external thing falls within the ken of the sense-organ. According to Dharmakirti a non-constructive mental perception intervenes in the second moment and the synthetic cognition (savikalpa) is effected with the image-formation in the third moment (v. Bud. logic. II, p. 312, the Table) our author here, without taking notice of the second stage mental perception speaks of the image-invested knowledge as immediately following the first moment's pure sensation.

The idea seems to be this: the knowledge first becomes similar to its object and this similraized knowledge becomes the objet of its immediately following knowledge. The author objects to this because no knowledge flashes up immediately after its predecessor. In Tib. or after sna-ma stands for objective case governed by the verb hdod, pa.

- 302. It is well-known that the Yogacara accepts three characteris tics, (laksana), viz. Parikalpita, paratantra and parinispanna, Likewise this author enumerates three things, viz kalpita, vikalpita and dharmata, of which the last one is explained as svalaksana corresponding to Parinispanna of the Yogacara, Kalpita, a basic entity, i.e. a bhavamatra may correspond to Paratantra and Vikalpita, a false aspect imputed on may correspond to parikalpita. Thus according to this Vaibhasika author as in the case of the Yogacara, two things, Kalpita and dharmata are true whereas vikalpita like parikalpita of the Yogacara is untrue. That the vikalpita is untrue has already been pointed out in the note 297 above. It is entirely false in as much as fancied by worldlings. cp. ver. 40. विकल्पितश्च शब्दार्थी न भाती-न्द्रियचेतिस । Dharmata, is an everlastingly true as it is the same as svalaksana, an everlasting svabhava, (svabhavah sarvada casti .... ) Kalpita that is explained as bhavamatra, a basic entity probably implies atomic foundations on which the various things are fancied. Atoms are kalpita, i.e. infered, v. ver. 64, (n. 111). why the separate atoms are not cognized is made clear by the author in the ver, 44 (n. 76), though the aggregate atoms are cognized in their svalaksana, v. ver. 37. (n. 62).

- 306. The author's repeated argument of reality of the external things is avisamvada, a non-contradicted experience, v. vers: 3, (n. 5) 19 (n. 31) and 98. (n. 165).
- 307. This refers to the Madhyamika's position. The sentence may also read thus: their experiences resemble the dream, and [therefore] are non-existent.
